Subject: Re: Northwestern price increase

Hello

I just received a notice that Northwestern is filing for a 20.24% increase in electric bills so they can update their infrastructure. I understand prices are going to increase, but 20% seems ridiculous. My concern is that they are not investing profit to continue updating their system and want the users to pay for poor business practices. This will cause more financial stress on a lot of people that are on a tight budget. Thanks for you time and consideration.
