

---

From: Amber Christenson

Sent: Monday, 18 June 2018 08:22:36 (UTC-06:00) Central Time (US & Canada)

To: PUC

Subject: [EXT] Docket EL18-003

In the matter of Dakota Range, Docket EL18-003...

I listened to Dakota Range say they did not have a manual and that it would not be printed until November. I say that is not truthful

On May 14th, at the Grant County Planning and Zoning meeting in Milbank, SD, we had a public input hearing. At that hearing, Vince Meyer, a Grant county resident, asked Mark Mauersberger if we were getting used turbines, because he had heard they already had them. Mark Mauersberger replied, no they are not used, we have them from another project.

Who would spend hundreds of thousands of dollars, if not millions, on turbines that have no manual? No one. Their story about not having the manual is fiction.

There may very well be a manual coming out in November. My guess, a 'revised' manual, if anything.

And that 'letter' they produced from Vestas? You have to have reservations on that. That looks like 3 day old fish smells.

Amber Christenson
Strandburg, SD