Docket Nos. TC03-002 – TC03-021

RECEIVED

FEB 07 2003

SOUTH DAKOTA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

FAX Received FEB 06 2003

Dear Ms. Elofson:

AT&T welcomes the opportunity to comment on these dockets. AT&T notes that because the "deals" at issue are indeed secret (thus the reason for the opening of these dockets), AT&T has no idea of what is contained and thus finds it difficult to comment on whether the deals are of the type that should cause concern to the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission. Accordingly, only the Commission staff who have reviewed the agreements can bring these matters to the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission for a determination of whether such provisions favor one competitor over the other in violation of both South Dakota law and the Telecommunications Act of 1996. Of course, as a national CLEC with a South Dakota presence, AT&T is interested in making sure that both the South Dakota staff and the Public Utilities Commission complete their duties to assure that competition is realized in South Dakota.

AT&T notes that this approach is analogous to the approach utilized in Minnesota. The Minnesota Department of Commerce (akin to Commission adversarial staff), after conducting the same type of investigation as South Dakota Commission staff, prosecuted a case against Qwest for providing "sweetheart deals" to certain CLECs in violation of both Minnesota state law and the Telecommunications Act of 1996. The Department of Commerce (and the citizens of the state of Minnesota) prevailed, as on February 4, 2003, Qwest was ordered to provide restitution to the CLECs that were not given the "sweetheart deals" for twenty-four months. Qwest was also fined upwards of twenty-two million dollars (with such amount to be stayed if restitution is fully paid).

February 6, 2003

In sum, this Commission can re-level the playing field and encourage competition in South Dakota by providing the appropriate remedy, if and only if it finds there were "sweetheart deals" given to competitors that were against South Dakota and federal law. As one can see through the Minnesota experience, the Commission can only attempt to level the playing fields if Commission staff and the Commission work assiduously to determine if these deals do exist in South Dakota and, if appropriate, craft a proper remedy. Otherwise, the Commission and its prosecuting body can stand mute and simply hope, with blinders on, that there is no effect on competition in its state. AT&T suggests that if the Commission elects the latter approach, it is effectively condoning Qwest's behavior as well as harming competitors. As such, AT&T hopes that this Commission and its Staff decide to pursue this matter.

Sincerely,

RESPONSE OF QWEST CORPORATION

Qwest Corporation ("Qwest") submits the following response in these dockets pursuant to the Commission's order in the docketing statement dated January 10, 2003.

INTRODUCTION

On January 10 2003, the Commission opened these dockets for the stated purpose of determining whether certain agreements, which Qwest filed in June 2002 as part of the Commission's Investigation into Qwest's Compliance with Section 271, should have been filed with the Commission earlier under Section 252. The Commission directed any interested party to file comments by February 5. Any party could have obtained copies of the Agreements under the terms of the confidentiality order in place in the section 271 proceedings. None apparently did so. Any party could have filed comments. But no party, and specifically no South Dakota competitive local exchange carrier ("CLEC"), filed any substantive comments.¹

In light of the lack of any real interest in these dockets and Qwest's substantial, remedial, and proactive efforts to resolve past and future issues regarding filings under Section 252, Qwest believes there is no active controversy or dispute for the Commission to pursue, and that the dockets should be closed without further proceedings.²

QWEST IS PROACTIVELY COMPLYING WITH ALL FILING REQUIREMENTS.

Since this issue arose in other states in the Spring of 2002, Qwest demonstrably has taken firm measures to implement a broad standard for filing agreements. First, in April 2002, Qwest submitted a petition for a declaratory ruling from the FCC, requesting an official pronouncement regarding the standard for filing voluntarily negotiated interconnection agreements.³ Qwest sought a standard that would be uniformly applicable over its entire fourteen-state region, and the FCC provided that standard in its October 4, 2002 Order.⁴ The FCC's October 4 Order, as implemented by this Commission, will help ensure that Qwest and CLECs comply with their respective filing obligations.

² The Commission indirectly addressed these issues in the section 271 proceedings. In its November 22, 2002 Order Regarding the Public Interest, the Commission found that "Qwest's past conduct regarding the agreements has not resulted in closed market in South Dakota." Order Regarding Public Interest, at 3.

Second, while Qwest's petition with the FCC was pending, Qwest voluntarily instituted a broad filing standard and other remedial measures as outlined in a letter from R. Steven Davis to the Commission, which was attached to the affidavit of Todd Lundy and which accompanied the filing of the Agreements in TC01-165. A copy of that letter is attached for the Commission's reference. The standard voluntarily implemented by Qwest in May of 2002 is substantively the same as that eventually articulated by the FCC's October 4 Order.

Third, Qwest has instituted an internal review process to ensure that experienced regulatory lawyers and other senior personnel review all CLEC settlement agreements for compliance with the FCC filing standard. Qwest created a six-person committee, composed of a state regulatory lawyer, a senior director of wholesale issues from the Policy organization, a lawyer from Wholesale and Commercial Law, a regulatory director from Network, a senior director from Wholesale, and a director of process management from Wholesale Service Delivery, to review wholesale settlement contracts. The committee is charged with applying the state and federal filing standards entered into after the committee's formation in June of 2002.

The committee meets at least once each week, and it is now a permanent part of Qwest's structure.

Fourth, Qwest has instituted management and structural changes intended to assure the Commission that Qwest will meet its filing obligations in the future. Qwest restructured its Wholesale Business Development department and shifted that department's responsibilities elsewhere, including to the Wholesale Service Delivery department. The management of Wholesale Business Development who oversaw the unfiled agreements, Greg Casey, the former Executive Vice President, and Audrey McKenney, the former Senior Vice President, are no longer employed by Qwest in any capacity. To replace them, Qwest has brought in Patricia Engels, a telecommunications business executive with extensive knowledge and experience and a longstanding commitment to regulatory compliance. Qwest's chief executive officer, Richard Notebaert, has directed her – and all Qwest employees – to ensure that their conduct is completely compliant with all regulatory requirements, and he has assured all Qwest employees that he will take swift and decisive employment action, including termination, in response to any instances of noncompliance.

Fifth, and perhaps most important to the instant dockets, in the summer and fall of 2002, Qwest reviewed all of the past agreements submitted last June in the 271 dockets, and identified those provisions that relate to Section 251(b) or (c) services on an on-going basis which have not been terminated or superseded by agreement, commission order, or otherwise. Then, in September 2002, Qwest petitioned the Commission to approve those provisions such that, to the extent any active provisions relating to Section 251 (b) or (c), they are formally available to other CLECs under Section 252(i). The Commission approved all such provisions pursuant to Section 252(e) on December 20, 2002. On January 13, 2003, Qwest made another filing under Section 252(e) of contracts that Qwest considers "form contracts" exempt from the filing standard. However, in order to assure compliance under even very broad interpretations of the filing standard, Qwest made those filings (Dockets TC03-024 through TC03-031). Approval of those contracts is pending. Thus, all currently on-going arrangements with CLECs, under very broad interpretations of the Section 251 filing standard, have been filed and are available for opt in under Section 252(i).

Qwest has taken each and every one of these remedial steps to affirm its commitment to compliance with the pro-competitive and deregulatory purposes of the Telecommunications Act of 1996. Qwest remains committed to these policies to assure continued compliance.

CONCLUSION

The absence of any CLEC interest in this combined docket demonstrates a corresponding lack of practical significance to proceeding any further. Qwest has instituted several remedial measures to resolve any remaining filing issues, and these efforts appear to have satisfied South Dakota CLECs. Qwest is always willing to work with the Commission and the Staff to address any specific filing issue; however, it appears that this docket may be closed.

Respectfully submitted this 25th day of February, 2003.

Dear Commissioners:

There has been a lot of publicity over the past few weeks related to certain agreements that Qwest has entered into with competitive local exchange carriers. I am writing to advise you of new policies that Qwest is implementing in this area.

As you may know, ILECs routinely enter into agreements of many kinds with CLECs. Some of them may take effect immediately as in the normal business world. Others must be filed with and pre-approved by state commissions. Qwest itself has filed over 3,200 agreements with CLECs since the passage of the Telecommunications Act, including both initial agreements and amendments. This large number reflects our efforts to work with individual CLECs to meet their specific business needs. However, questions have been raised regarding a relative handful of our arrangements with CLECs. Some parties allege that under Section 252(a) of the Telecommunications Act such agreements also should have first been filed and approved.

Qwest disputes these allegations and is defending the legal line it drew between those agreements that did, and did not, need to be filed. Qwest also has filed a petition with the FCC asking for guidance on where the filing line is drawn.

Meanwhile, however, Qwest is implementing two new policies that will eliminate debate regarding whether Qwest is complying fully with applicable law. First, Qwest will file all contracts, agreements or letters of understanding between Qwest Corporation and CLECs that create obligations to meet the requirements of Section 251(b) or (c) on a going forward basis. We believe that commitment goes well beyond the requirements of Section 252(a). However, we will follow it until we receive a decision from the FCC on the appropriate line drawing in this area. Unless requested by the Commission, Qwest does not intend to file routine day-to-day paperwork, orders for specific services, or settlements of past disputes that do not otherwise meet the above definition.

Second, Qwest has reviewed and is enlarging its internal procedures for evaluating contractual arrangements with CLECs and making all necessary filings. Qwest is forming a committee of senior managers from the corporate organizations involved in wholesale agreements: wholesale business development, wholesale service delivery, network, legal affairs attorneys, policy and law attorneys, and public policy. This committee will review agreements involving in-region wholesale activities to ensure that the standard described above is applied prior to the issuance of an FCC ruling, and that any later FCC decision also is implemented fully and completely.

Qwest is implementing these policies to eliminate any question about Qwest' compliance with the requirements of Section 252(a) in this state while Qwest's petition to the FCC is pending. We hope to continue to work with CLECs to meet their individual needs, as we have in the past. This is a practice that we are proud of, and we do not want to see it obscured by controversy over the meaning of Section 252(a), or decisions on line drawing in a small number of situations.

To the extent there are questions or concerns associated with the procedure outlined in this letter, please contact me.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Adopted: October 2, 2002

Released: October 4, 2002

By the Commission:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. On April 23, 2002, Qwest Communications International Inc. (Qwest) filed a petition for a declaratory ruling on the scope of the mandatory filing requirement set forth in section 252(a)(1) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the Act).¹ Specifically, Qwest seeks guidance about the types of negotiated contractual arrangements between incumbent local exchange carriers (LECs) and competitive LECs that should be subject to the filing requirements of this section.² For the reasons explained below, we grant in part and deny in part Qwest's petition.

² Qwest Petition at 3. The Commission requested and received comments on the Qwest Petition. See Pleading Cycle Established for Comments on Qwest Communications International Inc. Petition for Declaratory Ruling on the Scope of the Duty to File and Obtain Prior Approval of Negotiated Contractual Arrangements under Section 252(a)(1), WC Docket No. 02-89, Public Notice, DA 02-976 (rel. April 29, 2002). The following parties submitted comments: AT&T Corp. (AT&T); Office of the Attorney General of the State of New Mexico and the Iowa Office of Consumer Advocate; Focal Communications Corporation and Pac-West Telecomm, Inc.; Iowa Utilities Board; Minnesota Department of Commerce; Mpower Communications Corp. (Mpower); New Edge Network, Inc.; PageData; Sprint Corporation (Sprint); Touch America, Inc. (Touch America); and WorldCom, Inc. (WorldCom). The following parties filed reply comments: Association of Communications Enterprises; Association for Local Telecommunications Services (ALTS); PageData; Qwest; Sprint; Verizon; VoiceStream Wireless Corporation; and WorldCom.

II. BACKGROUND

2. Section 252(a)(1) of the Act states:

Upon receiving a request for interconnection, services, or network elements pursuant to section 251, an incumbent local exchange carrier may negotiate and enter into a binding agreement with the requesting telecommunications carrier or carriers without regard to the standards set forth in subsections (b) and (c) of section 251. The agreement shall include a detailed schedule of itemized charges for interconnection and each service or network element included in the agreement. The agreement . . . shall be submitted to the State commission under subsection (e) of this section.³

Qwest argues that this section can most logically be read to mean that the mandatory filing and state commission approval process should apply only to the "rates and associated service descriptions for interconnection, services and network elements."⁴ More precisely, Qwest contends that a negotiated agreement should be filed for state commission approval if it includes: (i) a description of the service or network element being offered; (ii) the various options available to the requesting carrier (e.g., loop capacities) and any binding contractual commitments regarding the quality or performance of the service or network element; and (iii) the rate structures and rate levels associated with each such option (e.g., recurring and non-recurring charges, volume or term commitments).⁵

3. According to Qwest, the following categories of incumbent LEC-competitive LEC arrangements should not be subject to section 252(a)(1): (i) agreements defining business relationships and business-to-business administrative procedures (e.g., escalation clauses, dispute resolution provisions, arrangements regarding the mechanics of provisioning and billing, arrangements for contacts between the parties, and non-binding service quality or performance standards);⁶ (ii) settlement agreements;⁷ and (iii) agreements regarding matters not subject to sections 251 or 252 (e.g., interstate access services, local retail services, intrastate long distance, and network elements that have been removed from the national list of elements subject to mandatory unbundling).⁸

⁵ Qwest Petition at 29. Qwest also indicates that a description of basic operations support systems functionalities and options to which the parties have agreed should be filed and subjected to state commission approval. Id. at 29-30.

4. Qwest states that a Commission ruling on this issue will eliminate the prospect of multiple, inconsistent rulings by state commissions and federal courts.⁹ Qwest argues that a national policy concerning what must be filed under section 252(a)(1) is necessary to promote local competition, facilitate multi-state negotiations,¹⁰ and prevent overbroad interpretations of this filing requirement.¹¹ According to Qwest, an overbroad interpretation would reduce the incentives of incumbents and competitive LECs to implement bilateral arrangements that could benefit both parties. For example, Qwest states that the public disclosure of contractual provisions such as settlements of past disputes might discourage the parties from entering into such arrangements.¹² Qwest also contends that an overbroad reading of section 252(a)(1) creates legal uncertainty with respect to the validity of agreements that have not gone through the prior state commission approval process.¹³

5. Most commenters oppose Qwest's petition,¹⁴ arguing that it is unnecessary and that Qwest's proposal interprets too narrowly which agreements must be filed under section 252(a)(1).¹⁵ For example, several commenters argue that service quality and performance standards relate to interconnection and are therefore appropriately included in interconnection agreements.¹⁶ Commenters also contend that competitive LECs need dispute resolution, billing and provisioning provisions in their interconnection agreements.¹⁷ The commenters also disagree with Qwest's view that only certain portions of agreements (related to section 251(b) or (c)) need to be filed for state commission approval and argue instead that the entire agreement must be filed for state commission review and approval.¹⁸

6. The commenters dispute Qwest's assertions concerning the burden of "overfiling" agreements for state commission approval¹⁹ and disagree with Qwest's interpretation of the legal status of agreements not filed under section 252 or not yet approved by state commissions under the same section.²⁰ Specifically, these commenters contend that nothing in section 252, or any other provision of the Act, provides that the parties are prohibited from abiding by the agreement's terms until a state commission completes its review of the negotiated agreement.²¹ Moreover, according to AT&T, not only does the 90-day approval process not present any legal impediment to parties that would like to begin operating under the terms of a negotiated agreement prior to state commission approval, there is no practical impediment (e.g., compliance jeopardy) because interconnection agreements are rarely rejected.²²

III. DISCUSSION

7. We grant in part and deny in part Qwest's petition for a declaratory ruling. In issuing this decision, however, we believe that the state commissions should be responsible for applying, in the first instance, the statutory interpretation we set forth today to the terms and conditions of specific agreements. Indeed, we believe this is consistent with the structure of section 252, which vests in the states the authority to conduct fact-intensive determinations relating to interconnection agreements.²³

8. We begin our analysis with the statutory language. Section 252(a)(1) provides that the binding agreement between the incumbent LEC and the requesting competitive LEC must include a "detailed schedule of itemized charges for interconnection and each service or network element included in the agreement."²⁴ In addition, section 251(c)(1) requires incumbent LECs to negotiate in good faith, in accordance with section 252, the particular terms and conditions of agreements to implement their duties set forth in sections 251(b) and (c).²⁵ Based on these statutory provisions, we find that an agreement that creates an ongoing obligation pertaining to resale, number portability, dialing parity, access to rights-of-way, reciprocal compensation, interconnection, unbundled network elements, or collocation is an interconnection agreement that must be filed pursuant to section 252(a)(1).²⁶ This interpretation, which directly flows from the language of the Act, is consistent with the pro-competitive, deregulatory framework set forth in the Act. This standard recognizes the statutory balance between the rights of competitive LECs to obtain interconnection terms pursuant to section 252(i) and removing unnecessary regulatory impediments to commercial relations between incumbent and competitive LECs. We therefore disagree with Qwest that the content of interconnection agreements should be limited to the schedule of itemized charges and associated descriptions of the services to which the charges apply. Considering the many and complicated terms of interconnection typically established between an incumbent and competitive LEC, we do not believe that section 252(a)(1) can be given the cramped reading that Qwest proposes. Indeed, on its face, section 252(a)(1) does not further limit the types of agreements that carriers must submit to state commissions.

²³ As an example of the substantial implementation role given to the states, throughout the arbitration provisions of section 252, Congress committed to the states the fact-intensive determinations that are necessary to implement contested interconnection agreements. See, e.g., 47 U.S.C. § 252(e)(5) (directing the Commission to preempt a state commission's jurisdiction only if that state commission fails to act to carry out its responsibility under section 252).

9. We are not persuaded by Qwest that dispute resolution and escalation provisions are per se outside the scope of section 252(a)(1).²⁷ Unless this information is generally available to carriers (e.g., made available on an incumbent LEC's wholesale web site), we find that agreements addressing dispute resolution and escalation provisions relating to the obligations set forth in sections 251(b) and (c) are appropriately deemed interconnection agreements. The purpose of such clauses is to quickly and effectively resolve disputes regarding section 251(b) and (c) obligations. The means of doing so must be offered and provided on a nondiscriminatory basis if Congress' requirement that incumbent LECs behave in a nondiscriminatory manner is to have any meaning.²⁸

10. Based on their statutory role provided by Congress and their experience to date, state commissions are well positioned to decide on a case-by-case basis whether a particular agreement is required to be filed as an "interconnection agreement" and, if so, whether it should be approved or rejected. Should competition-affecting inconsistencies in state decisions arise, those could be brought to our attention through, for example, petitions for declaratory ruling. The statute expressly contemplates that the section 252 filing process will occur with the states, ²⁶ We therefore disagree with the parties that advocate the filing of all agreements between an incumbent LEC and a requesting carrier. See Office of the New Mexico Attorney General and the Iowa Office of Consumer Advocate Comments at 5. Instead, we find that only those agreements that contain an ongoing obligation relating to section 251(b) or (c) must be filed under 252(a)(1). Similarly, we decline Touch America's suggestion to require Qwest to file with us, under section 211, all agreements with competitive LECs entered into as "settlements of disputes" and publish those terms as "generally available" terms for all competitive LECs. Touch America Comments at 10, citing 47 U.S.C. § 211.

and we are reluctant to interfere with their processes in this area. Therefore, we decline to establish an exhaustive, all-encompassing "interconnection agreement" standard. The guidance we articulate today flows directly from the statute and serves to define the basic class of agreements that should be filed. We encourage state commissions to take action to provide further clarity to incumbent LECs and requesting carriers concerning which agreements should be filed for their approval. At the same time, nothing in this declaratory ruling precludes state enforcement action relating to these issues.²⁹

11. Consistent with our view that the states should determine in the first instance which sorts of agreements fall within the scope of the statutory standard, we decline to address all the possible hypothetical situations presented in the record before us. We are aware, however, of some disagreement concerning interconnection agreement issues raised recently in another proceeding previously before the Commission.³⁰ Consequently, we determine that additional, specific guidance on these issues would be helpful.

12. The first matter concerns which settlement agreements, if any, must be filed under section 252(a)(1). We disagree with the blanket statement made by Qwest in its petition that "[s]ettlement agreements that resolve disputes between ILECs and CLECs over billing or other matters are not interconnection agreements under Section 252."³¹ Instead, and consistent with the guidance provided above, we find that a settlement agreement that contains an ongoing obligation relating to section 251(b) or (c) must be filed under section 252(a)(1). Merely inserting the term "settlement agreement" in a document does not excuse carriers of their filing obligation under section 252(a) or prevent a state commission from approving or rejecting the agreement as an interconnection agreement under section 252(e). However, we also agree with Qwest that those settlement agreements that simply provide for "backward-looking consideration" (e.g., the settlement of a dispute in consideration for a cash payment or the cancellation of an unpaid bill) need not be filed.³² That is, settlement contracts that do not affect an incumbent LEC's ongoing obligations relating to section 251 need not be filed.

13. Qwest has also argued, in another proceeding, that order and contract forms used by competitive LECs to request service do not need to be filed for state commission approval because such forms only memorialize the order of a specific service, the terms and conditions of which are set forth in a filed interconnection agreement.³³ We agree with Qwest that forms completed by carriers to obtain service pursuant to terms and conditions set forth in an interconnection agreement do not constitute either an amendment to that interconnection agreement or a new interconnection agreement that must be filed under section 252(a)(1).

14. Further, we agree with Qwest that agreements with bankrupt competitors that are entered into at the direction of a bankruptcy court or trustee and do not otherwise change the terms and conditions of the underlying interconnection agreement are not interconnection agreements or amendments to interconnection agreements that must be filed under section 252(a)(1) for state commission approval.³⁴ We are unaware of any carrier submitting such agreements for state commission approval under section 252. Directing carriers to do so has the potential to raise difficult jurisdictional issues between the bankruptcy court and regulators and could entangle carriers in inconsistent and, possibly, conflicting requirements imposed by state commissions, bankruptcy courts, and this Commission.

IV. ORDERING CLAUSE

15. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED, pursuant to sections 4(i), 251, 252 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 154(i), 251, 252, and section 1.2 of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 1.2, that Qwest's Petition for Declaratory Ruling IS GRANTED IN PART and IS DENIED IN PART.

Re: Dockets TC03-002 through TC03-021

Dear Mr. Frazier:

Thank you for your time and effort spent working with us on these agreements. We appreciate your willingness to meet with us to work through these important issues. At our last meeting, you provided us with several informal questions, which we have investigated and answer below. Our hope is that these answers will resolve all your concerns and enable you to recommend closing each docket. Please do not hesitate to call, write, or email Tim Goodwin at the above addresses, or Todd Lundy at 303-896-1446 or tlundy@qwest.com, if you have any further questions or concerns.

1. TC03-002. Is "Advanced Telcom Group, Inc." the same as "Advanced Telecom"? In the matrix under the term "Party" it is noted that Advanced Telcom Group, Inc. is now lonex. Did Qwest mean to say Advanced Communications Group?

Response: Qwest intended to say that Advanced Communications Group is now lonex. The point we were attempting to make is that Advanced Telecom Group is not a South Dakota CLEC, and thus the Advanced Telecom Group agreement does not implicate South Dakota.

2. Qwest has previously argued that agreements which have been cancelled or are no longer in effect do not need to be filed with the Commission for approval. Were any agreements cancelled or otherwise disposed of to avoid having to file them?

Response: The answer is "No." To expand upon our answer to this question, agreements were cancelled or terminated or expired for other reasons. First, an agreement may expire by its own terms. Second, an agreement may be superseded by a subsequent agreement. Third, disputes arise regarding the interpretation of the agreement, and the parties may wish to both resolve the past dispute and terminate the contract. Fourth, as to some of the agreements, state commission staffs have stated that performance under contracts may result in a discriminatory effect. Preventing any alleged future discrimination is a good faith reason for negotiating the termination of such agreements.

3. TC03-005, 006 & 010. In 005 & 006 Qwest agreed to pay McLeod $25.5 million. In 010 Qwest agreed to pay McLeod $27.5 million. Is the $27.5 million discussed in 010 in addition to the $25.5 million discussed in 005 & 006 or is it a $2 million dollar increase of the $25.5 millions discussed in 005 & 006?

Response: Before directly answering this question, we wish to point out that each of the identified provisions are settlements of past disputes involving payment of backward-looking consideration, which the FCC has ruled does not constitute terms of an interconnection agreement or amendment and not subject to the filing obligations under Section 252(a) and (e).

To answer your question, the $27.5 million in the September 29, 2000 agreement resolves a dispute relating to the ability of McLeod to bill IXCs for switched access, and it is in addition to the $25.5 million in the April; 28, 2000 agreement that resolved miscellaneous billing disputes.

4. TC03-009. (Qwest matrix). In what docket was the ICA filed and approved, as discussed in the "Qwest Analysis" portion of the matrix?

Response: TC00-107. Also, you asked us last week for the differences between "UNE-E" and "UNE-M." We note that the agreements containing UNE-E, for Eschelon, and UNE-M, for McLeod, were filed with the respective state commissions for approval. In short, the differences include rates, amount of volume commitments, number of available features, directory listings availability, and duration.

5. TC03-011 and 012. Did any money actually trade hands between Qwest and McLeod under these agreements? If so, what did each party purchase from each other? Was there a difference paid to McLeod from Qwest; to Qwest from McLeod? How does a cash refund not constitute a refund of rates?

Response: Both parties made payments. Telecommunications services generally, both in-region and out-of-region, were the subject of both agreements. Qwest did pay McLeod for differences under this arrangement. And, in other proceedings, allegations have been made that Qwest entered into an oral agreement for a discount, or in your words, a refund. The method by which McLeod recorded and accounted for the payments evidences a volume purchase agreement, rather than a discount. That is, McLeod accounted for these payments as revenues, which is consistent with a volume purchase obligation, and did not account for them as reductions in expense, which would have been consistent with a discount. Also, no carrier in South Dakota appears to be concerned with these agreements, as shown by the absence of any intervention or filing of comments in these dockets.

6. TC03-011. Does section 1.4.3 have a typographical error when it describes when McLeod's obligations are terminated under the PA? Should that paragraph actually describe when Qwest's obligations are terminated under the PA?

Response: Yes.

7. TC03-016 & 017. Did money actually trade hands between Qwest or QCC and McLeod under these agreements? Please provide a signed and dated copy of each of these agreements.

Response: The entire payment for the QC agreement was made, and the first installment was paid under the QCC agreement. A dispute arose as to the QCC agreement and the arrangements with McLeod, and the parties entered into a settlement.

We have not located signed copies, however, the parties operated under the terms of the document we have provided.

8. TC03-017. Does QCC enter into an agreement that binds QC in this agreement? Please clarify the parties that are bound by this agreement.

Response: The individual responsible for negotiating this agreement is no longer with the company. Generally, QCC agreements do not bind QC. It appears that TC03-016 and TC03-017 were structured to distinguish between QCC and QC obligations.

9. TC03-012. Does this include "affiliates"? Please describe whether the agreement is intended to include affiliates and whether the contracts, in general, make distinctions between QC, QCC, and "affiliates".

Response: The individual responsible for negotiating this agreement is no longer with the company, but to our understanding, TC03-012 was intended at the time (October 26, 2000) to include QCC and its affiliate QC.

10. TC03-013 & 014. In these agreements it appears that Qwest and McLeod trade $5 million on the same day. Did money actually trade hands as a result of these agreements? Please explain why the companies would be agreeing to pay each other $5 million on the same day.

Response: Yes, payments were made pursuant to these agreements. In fact, different amounts were paid to each company. Qwest paid McLeod $32.5 million, and McLeod paid Qwest $43.5 million. The individuals responsible for negotiating the terms of these agreements are no longer with the company, but generally, it is our understanding that amounts of agreements are negotiated based upon the nature of different disputes at issue, and payments are made to reflect the nature of the underlying issue.

Also, these are settlements of past disputes involving payment of backward-looking consideration, which are not subject to the filing obligations under Section 252(a) and (e).

Again, thank you for meeting with us and for sharing your analysis, questions, and concerns. We remain committed to working with the Staff and Commission to further Qwest's proactive, broad standard for filing interconnection agreements, and look forward to working with you on these issues in the future.

Sincerely,

Todd L. Lundy

The above agreement was filed with the Commission on June 13, 2002, as a confidential exhibit to the Affidavit of Todd Lundy in Docket TC01-165. On November 22, 2002, in the Order Regarding the Public Interest, the Commission ruled that the issue of whether this agreement was a mandatory filing should be considered separate from the TC01-165 docket. Pursuant to that Order, this docket was opened for the purpose of receiving a Commission ruling on whether this agreement should have been filed pursuant to the mandatory filing requirements of section 252(e)(1) of the 1996 Telecommunications Act. Qwest requested confidential treatment of the contents of this agreement pursuant to ARSD chapter 20:10:01.

On January 16, 2003, the Commission electronically transmitted notice of the filing of the agreement to interested individuals and entities. The notice stated that any person wishing to comment on the agreement had until February 5, 2003, to do so. At its duly noticed June 17, 2003, meeting, the Commission considered this matter. It is therefore ORDERED, that this filing does not require Commission approval.
