

EchoStar continues to take action against unauthorized telemarketing and lead generation violators.

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. – June 25, 2007. The company today announced the termination of Texas-based independent retailer Brandon Adams Investments Inc. Dish Central for violation of EchoStar's policies regarding telemarketing and lead generation.

Additionally, EchoStar recently became aware of organizations with operations in Pakistan and elsewhere that may be engaged in improper, and potentially unlawful, means to provide telemarketing and lead generation services to DISH Network retailers. The names of these business organizations include: Divine Group/Divine Consultants; Transdata, L.L.C.; and Global IT Vision/MySatTV. These organizations are in no way affiliated with EchoStar and have not been authorized by EchoStar to perform telemarketing or lead generation services on behalf of any DISH Network retailer.

EchoStar fully supports the FTC's national Do-Not-Call Registry and all telemarketing laws and regulations. EchoStar policies prohibit unlawful telemarketing calls to existing and potential DISH Network customers, and require retailers to be fully knowledgeable of all applicable laws prior to engaging in any telemarketing activities. EchoStar will continue to investigate the practices of retailers and marketing lead generators who violate telemarketing laws and will take appropriate actions as necessary.
