Subject: TAP variable paragraph

This is what we put on the Consumer letter back in addition to the TAP slipsheet:

Telephone Assistance Plans help low income citizens with the cost of telephone service. Eligibility is dependent upon income guidelines and other criteria. For more information, please call Qwest.

Telephone Assistance Programs Available to Low-Income Households

Qwest* recognizes how important telephone service is to connect people with family, friends, businesses and emergency services. That's why we offer two federal telephone assistance programs — Lifeline and Link-Up — to low-income families that qualify.

Lifeline provides eligible customers with a monthly credit to help offset the cost of their home telephone line. Free Long Distance Restriction is also available, at the customer's request. (Telephone service must be billed to the individual applying for assistance.)

Link-Up provides eligible customers with a one-time credit equal to 50% of the installation charges for a home telephone line. Customers who qualify for Lifeline assistance automatically receive the Link-Up credit if their application for telephone assistance is received within 60 days of their home phone installation date, and if they have not previously received a Link-Up credit at the same address.

Who is eligible?

Customers are automatically eligible for these telephone assistance programs if they already participate in one of the following low-income programs:

- Medicaid
- Food Stamps
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Federal Public Housing Assistance
- Low-Income Home Energy Assistance
- Temporary Assistance to Needy Families program (TANF)
- National School Lunch Program (NSL)

Customers may also be eligible for telephone assistance if their household income is at or below 135% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines (see enclosed application form for details).
