Dear Gary Hanson,

I am writing to voice my support for wind energy development. South Dakota is a national leader in wind power and we are perfectly situated to benefit from wind energy development. Wind energy adds needed jobs and pays millions in property taxes to help locally-including our schools and roads. Wind energy is the future. It's clean. It's local. And it supports a thriving economy, money for schools and roads, and creates local jobs. South Dakota lags far behind neighboring states in making wise investments and technological advances in clean energy. It is time South Dakota's legislators take action to make the state a leader in wind energy and green technology development.

Sincerely,
Sherry Korthals
