

We are landowners, one of many, who lost Wind Towers in this process! We depend on our land for our living! How could we add income with any cleaner, less danger to our environment than wind power! We're not as concerned about our personal income loss as we are the loss of income to support our township, county, town and school as well as our state!

Should we let emotions dictate solving real problems? In our States real situation emotions need to "give way" to solving these real problems. Of course here the common sense and practicality of endorsing the states natural asset of wind power!

We were extremely happy to see Gov. Dargatzis recent column "Wind Power Contributing to South Dakota's Economy"

Thank you for your time!

My main concern today is my property rights as a land owner! It seems they're gradually eroding! When water floods my land from a nearby lake or slough, I no longer have any rights over the top of that water! Now I can't have a tower on ~~that~~ land that I own and pay taxes on! What rights do I have? and finally to my friends in Clark County SD Can't we disagree without breaking relationships?

Our nation is so divided now - I'd like to think those of us in Clark County, SD are better people than that!
