Dear Public Utilities Commission,

We're writing today to express our support for the Prevailing Winds wind project.

Throughout our lives we have surprised visiting family and friends with the wonderful wind that blows across our state. Now we have the chance to step forward with the times and harness some of this incredible energy in a manner that preserves our clean air.

I understand that there are protests regarding these towers. I wonder if oil was found on the land, would these people also protest oil drilling and storage.

This is an opportunity to produce energy in a somewhat newer way that is safer for the environment and hence for all of us as well.

I have heard people complain about the look of a wind tower. To me they are majestic and marvelous! Fascinating to watch them turning in the wind.

I hope you will see the protests as the expression of fears that are unfounded as I believe that those worried folks are jeopardizing the fact that South Dakota is rich in wind and we have a chance to use it.

For all of us who love the fact that our electricity is always there, this is a further guarantee of that luxury.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Linda and Doug Schnabel

“Love lift us up where we belong. Far from the world below. Up where the clear winds blow.”
