

From: Thomas Hackl [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, September 9, 2022 10:28 AM
To: Nelson, Chris
Subject: [EXT] CO2 pipeline

Chris,

Over the year I think it is interesting to see people make outlandish statements that CO2. Is a global problem and a need to be done.

I hope Eminent domain is not allow in this case since it is truly just an opinion and not scientifically proven to be of a need for the public. Any taking of land for Economic benefit has not been approved. Also it should not be approved.

This article I think is a great piece for which we should respect this man's credibility.

Today we are seeing the impact of horrible long term policy decisions of an energy movement to bankrupt industries and encourage horrible inefficient investments into these policies that aren't well thought out and have nothing to do with science.

I kinda hope you let this group spend a lot of money to go to farmers for use of their land but it f some say no. That will say if the project goes or not.

The simple fact is Eminent domain has nothing no credit in this discussion. The case in Massachusetts where organizes illegally used eminent domain was eventually overturned because the use was strictly so other can profit is not a viable use of eminent domain.

Thanks

Tom Hackl
[REDACTED]
Sioux Falls, sd 57108

Also this idea that excel can increase rates electricity 20% is totally unjustified. They are making healthy profit margins and are a utility that has a Monopoly.

[REDACTED]

Sent from my iPhone