Lake Cochrane Improvement Association

The Lake Cochrane Improvement Association (LCIA) board has reviewed an application for a wind turbine project located West of Lake Cochrane.

The entire project is located outside the "lake park district" as per Deuel County zoning regulations. That means the project is at least 3 miles away from Lake Cochrane.

The board noticed three proposed tower sites have been flagged by the project's own engineering study to be potentially too close to the Lake Cochrane Seaplane Base for safe aircraft operation.

The LCIA board is working with an attorney to formally request the project applicants remove the three towers in question from the project plan.

In addition, the LCIA board attorney will file comments with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to recommend they deny the three proposed tower sites when the FAA reviews the project application.

You are invited to attend the public hearing on Thursday, August 22, 2024, 5:30 p.m. at the Clear Lake Community Center, 218 Third Avenue South, Clear Lake, South Dakota.

Instructions to submit written comments and more information on the project can be found at:
