- 1.2 In looking at the Residential and Nonresidential Gas program expenses:
- A) What did most of the expenses occur in the first third of 2018?
  - B) Did MidAmerican have to turn away customers seeking to participate in the program?
  - C) Did MidAmerican consider petitioning to increase its energy efficiency budget

Response:

- A) Both the residential and nonresidential gas equipment programs experienced carryover from 2017 which contributed to early in the year spending of the respective 2018 budgets. The Residential Equipment gas program had 2017 carryover totaling $256,269 and the Nonresidential Equipment gas program had 2017 carryover totaling $33,123. After the 2017 carryover rebates were paid, 2018 activity used the remainder of 2018 funding well before year end.
- B) Yes, MidAmerican had to turn away customers seeking to participate in the programs.
- C) No, MidAmerican did not consider petitioning to increase its energy efficiency budgets. MidAmerican's goal is to balance the benefits of energy efficiency while keeping the cost to our customer for energy efficiency programs at a reasonable cost.
