Dear SD PUC,

I am writing in support of the counties who stand with citizens' interest involving Co2 pipeline easements. With Navigator not producing plume studies, as admitted at the debate in Brookings, there's no guidance on safe distances to anyone's residence from the pipeline let alone family members, livestock and pets. So I ask that you consider the consequences if it was your family being in the vicinity of a pipeline that has not volunteered any safety information.

I ask that you please honor those counties' thoughtful decisions putting the safety of the citizens over corporate profit.

Respectfully,
Diana Page
