consumer tips

You are protected by state and federal regulations that guide the way telephone companies do business. There are also things you can do to help protect your privacy and safety. Some consumer guidelines are listed here.

Obscene or Harassing Phone Calls

Stay calm and hang up the phone. Call your local telephone company for information on how to handle these types of phone calls.

It's against the law to make obscene or threatening phone calls. Telephone harassment is a crime. Penalties include imprisonment and/or a fine.

Financial Assistance

Several programs provide financial help depending on your circumstances. The Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) provides money to qualified customers who need help with winter heating bills. Also, the major energy utility companies have their own financial assistance programs to help customers.

Billing Name & Address Disclosure

When you place a calling card call, or accept a collect or third-number billed call, your telephone company is required to provide your billing name and address to the telecommunications service provider that handled the call, if that provider requests.

Your telephone company will continue to provide billing name and address information to telecommunications service providers for other account matters, such as customer service, servicing your account, to prevent fraud or when you move from one location to another.

Pay Per Call Service Information

What "900" Numbers are

Private companies offer a variety of informational programs using phone numbers that begin with "900." There is a charge for calls to these numbers. Charges for "900" calls appear on the Interexchange Carrier page of your bill. "900" calls contain an introductory disclosure message specifying types of charges, time necessary to complete the call, and an option to disconnect without charge at the end of the introductory message.

The price and content of "900" services are the responsibility of the companies that provide the information.

How to Block Calls to "900" Numbers

Your local telephone company will assist you in blocking calls from your line to "900" numbers.

Other Questions About "900" Numbers

If you have a complaint or dispute about the "900" services, call the interexchange carrier. Services that contain illegal or sexually explicit material are not allowed. Nor is your telephone service disconnected for disputes about payment of "900" charges.

Unwanted Sales & Survey Calls

If you receive unwanted sales and/or survey calls, please take the following steps:

- Be skeptical of offers that sound too good to be true; they usually are.
- Report companies using questionable sales practices to the Better Business Bureau or your State Attorney General's office.
- Disconnect computer-generated calls by hanging up your telephone for 12 to 15 seconds.
- Call your local telephone company to have your name removed – at no charge – from any lists that they may lease to other firms. Customers with non-listed or non-published numbers are never included on the lists.
- Do not give your telephone credit card number to anyone who calls and asks for the number.

Lifeline Telephone Assistance Program

CenturyLink participates in a program to make residential telephone service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. This program, established by the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission and in conjunction with the Federal Communications Commission, offers discounted basic local service to qualified customers. In addition, service deposits are generally waived for customers electing to place toll restriction on their lines. Monthly charges for toll restriction will be waived for customers requesting to have that restriction on their account.

Who is Eligible for Telephone Assistance?

Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission and the FCC. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain additional federal eligibility programs.

The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone per household, which can be either a wireline or wireless telephone. A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.

If you have questions or believe you may qualify for these benefits, please call your CenturyLink Residential Customer Service Representative at 1-800-244-1111 or visit www.centurylink.com/TAP.

consumer tips

You are protected by state and federal regulations that guide the way telephone companies do business. There are also things you can do to help protect your privacy and safety. Some consumer guidelines are listed here.

Pay Per Call Service Information

What "900" Numbers are

Private companies offer a variety of informational programs using phone numbers that begin with "900." There is a charge for calls to these numbers. Charges for "900" calls appear on the Interexchange Carrier page of your bill. "900" calls contain an introductory disclosure message specifying types of charges, time necessary to complete the call, and an option to disconnect without charge at the end of the introductory message.

The price and content of "900" services are the responsibility of the companies that provide the information.

How to Block Calls to "900" Numbers

Your local telephone company will assist you in blocking calls from your line to "900" numbers.

Other Questions About "900" Numbers

If you have a complaint or dispute about the "900" services, call the interexchange carrier. Services that contain illegal or sexually explicit material are not allowed. Nor is your telephone service disconnected for disputes about payment of "900" charges.

Financial Assistance

Several programs provide financial help depending on your circumstances. The Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) provides money to qualified customers who need help with winter heating bills. Also, the major energy utility companies have their own financial assistance programs to help their customers.

Lifeline Telephone Assistance Program

CenturyLink participates in a program to make residential telephone service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. This program, established by the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission and in conjunction with the Federal Communications Commission, offers discounted basic local service to qualified customers. In addition, service deposits are generally waived for customers electing to place toll restriction on their lines. Monthly charges for toll restriction will be waived for customers requesting to have that restriction on their account.

Who is Eligible for Telephone Assistance?

Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission and the FCC. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain additional federal eligibility programs.

The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone per household, which can be either a wireline or wireless telephone. A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.

If you have questions or believe you may qualify for these benefits, please call your CenturyLink Residential Customer Service Representative at 1-800-244-1111 or visit www.centurylink.com/TAP.

Unwanted Sales & Survey Calls

If you receive unwanted sales and/or survey calls, please take the following steps:

- Be skeptical of offers that sound too good to be true; they usually are.
- Report companies using questionable sales practices to the Better Business Bureau or your State Attorney General's office.
- Disconnect computer-generated calls by hanging up your telephone for 12 to 15 seconds.
- Call your local telephone company to have your name removed - at no charge - from any lists that they may lease to other firms. Customers with non-listed or non-published numbers are never included on the lists.
- Do not give your telephone credit card number to anyone who calls and asks for the number.

Obscene or Harassing Phone Calls

Call your local telephone company for information on how to handle these types of phone calls. It's against the law to make obscene or threatening phone calls. Telephone harassment is a crime. Penalties include imprisonment and/or a fine.

Billing Name & Address Disclosure

When you place a calling card call or accept a collect call or third-number billed call, your telephone company is required to provide your billing name and address to the telecommunications service provider that handled the call, if that provider requests. Your telephone company will continue to provide billing name and address information to telecommunications service providers for other account matters, such as customer service, servicing your account, to prevent fraud or when you move from one location to another.

8-1-1 Call Before You Dig

A call to 8-1-1 connects the caller with the state One-Call Notification System whereby the caller can request the location of underground facilities. State law requires that everyone planning to excavate (or otherwise disturb the ground) must first call the state one-call notification center at least two business days, but not more than 10 days, before the work is scheduled to start. Except in emergencies, requests to locate underground facilities made after 5 p.m. Local Time, or on weekends and holidays, will not be dispatched until 7 a.m. the next business day. This service is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and is a free call.
