Support Programs for Qualifying Low-Income Customers

Giving you the phone discount and Internet service you need.

On a limited income? You can save with Lifeline services from CenturyLink. Lifeline is now available on either voice or broadband services. This government assistance program can help you save on your monthly service charges. CenturyLink also offers Internet Basics, a low-income assistance program for high-speed Internet service. See below for more details and requirements.

Lifeline

Lifeline discounts on voice services are available to participants of both state and federally recognized aid programs. Lifeline discounts on voice service include a transfer restriction (port freeze) for 60 days. This means that you are unable to obtain the Lifeline discount on service with another provider for 60 days from the date that your current voice service Lifeline discount began.

Lifeline discounts on broadband services are available to participants of federally-recognized aid programs and is limited to certain broadband services. Broadband speeds must be 10 Mbps download and 1 Mbps upload or faster to qualify. Lifeline discounts on broadband include a transfer restriction (port freeze) for 12 months. This means that once Lifeline broadband discounts begin, you will be unable to obtain a Lifeline discount with another provider for 12 months if you switch your service.

If you purchase voice and qualifying broadband services, the federal Lifeline discount will apply to your qualifying broadband service, and the 12-month benefit transfer (Port Freeze) restriction will apply.

If you purchase voice service and a non-qualifying broadband service, you may receive both state and federal Lifeline discounts on your voice service. Certain exceptions to the transfer restrictions may apply. See <http://www.lifelinesupport.org/ls/change-my-company.aspx> for more information.

Standard Lifeline - provides federal monthly support of $9.25. In some states, additional monthly support is also available

Tribal Lifeline - offers a deeper monthly discount as well as installation assistance through the Link-Up program to qualifying customers who live on federally-recognized Tribal lands.

How do I qualify for a Lifeline Discount?

Lifeline is available to qualified customers in every U.S. state. Qualification requirements vary by state. Select your state from the drop down box to the right in order to obtain state specific information on how to apply.

Please be aware that only one Lifeline discount is available per household, even if the household has more than one telephone or broadband account, including landline or wireless service. Under the Lifeline program, a household is defined as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. The Lifeline discount is not transferable and only eligible customers may enroll in the program. Documentation of eligibility is required to enroll. Customers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.

Phone and Internet Discounts Available to CenturyLink Customers

The South Dakota Public Utilities Commission designated CenturyLink as an Eligible Telecommunications Carrier within its service area for universal service purposes. CenturyLink's basic local service rates for residential voice lines are $21.25 per month and business services are $32.00-$38.40 per month. Specific rates will be provided upon request.

CenturyLink participates in a government benefit program (Lifeline) to make residential telephone service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the FCC and state commissions. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain additional federal eligibility programs. The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone per household, which can be either a wireline or wireless telephone. A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.
