IMPORTANT INFORMATION

At CenturyLink, we strive to provide you with quality products at great values. That's why we want to be sure you understand your rights as a customer, as well as the various rates and charges that are included in your CenturyLink service. Please call us at the number located in the Manage Your Account section of the bill if you have questions about any of this information.

Federal Universal Service Fund Changes – The Federal Universal Service Fund (USF) rate is reviewed on a quarterly basis by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Consequently, you may see changes on your bills in January, April, July and/or October. CenturyLink will apply rate changes on all applicable CenturyLink charges, such as those for the local line, private line interstate, long-distance interstate and international service. The Federal USF rate and charge are clearly identified on your bill. The effective rate can be found on http://www.fcc.gov/encyclopedia/contribution-factor-quarterly-filings-universal-service-fund-usf-management-support.

Federal Access Charge Changes - The annual adjustments of a federally approved telephone Subscriber Line Charge and Access Recovery Charge took effect July 1, 2020. These rates may be reviewed and adjusted in October, as well. These charges cover part of the cost for providing access to and maintenance of your local network. The effective rates can be found on your bill.

CenturyLink Customer Rights

Local Service – Your CenturyLink local telephone service includes dial-tone; access to the long-distance network; any call to 911 emergency services; one white page directory listing; and a telephone directory. As long as you pay all of your local telephone charges, your service cannot be disconnected or interrupted. CenturyLink may require a refundable deposit to establish service. Local Toll Service – Local toll service (or intraLATA service, or local long-distance service) provides calling to numbers outside your local service calling area but within your local toll calling area. Toll charges usually apply.

Long-Distance Service – You have the right to choose your long-distance service (or intrastate and interstate service) provider, subject to availability. Check the yellow pages for the names and telephone numbers of long-distance companies serving your area. CenturyLink Long Distance provides long-distance service.

Toll Call Blocking – You can request that outgoing local toll and long-distance calls be disallowed from your phone. Simply request the services be blocked by CenturyLink (charges may apply).

Privacy - CenturyLink is committed to maintaining our customers' privacy. Like most companies, we collect information about our customers and use it to provide our services. We also share it as needed to meet our business goals or fulfill our legal obligations. We protect the information we have about our customers, and we require those we share it with to protect it too. Our Privacy Notice describes the information we collect, how we use and share it, the choices you have about our use and sharing, and the steps we take to protect it. You can find our Privacy Notice here https://www.centurylink.com/aboutus/legal/privacy-notice.html, if you are unable to access the Internet, write us at CenturyLink Privacy Group, 1025 Eldorado Blvd, Interlocken 2000, Broomfield, CO 80021-8254 to request a printed copy.

Long-Distance Carrier Freeze – You can also request that CenturyLink "freeze" your long-distance carrier, meaning that the carrier cannot be changed without your express permission. If a change in carrier is made that you have not authorized, call CenturyLink or your preferred long-distance provider and report it. CenturyLink will correct the unauthorized change at no charge.

Inside Wiring and Telephone Equipment - You are responsible for the maintenance of all telephone equipment and telephone wiring inside your home. CenturyLink offers wire maintenance plans (charges apply).

Payment Responsibility - Your name will appear on the bill for your service, and you are responsible for all charges related to the products, services and other items you have ordered. Partial payments will be allotted first to local telephone services and last to non-local telephone services, unless you direct otherwise.

Call Information Blocking - You may block the display of your telephone number to customers who use our CLASS services (such as Caller ID or Last Call Return). Per-call blocking is free and automatically available to all customers: Simply dial "*67" (or 1167 from rotary phones) immediately before placing your call. You may also request free per-line blocking, which will block the display of your number for all calls.

Information About Caller ID "Number Spoofing" - Be aware: a variety of websites and vendors offer services that will let a person make it look like they are calling from any number they want. In this situation, the name or number that displays on the caller ID or similar equipment may not be the information of the calling party. This is often called "number spoofing." Sometimes it is done for a legitimate purpose, sometimes it is not.

Harassing Phone Calls - If you receive harassing or obscene phone calls, you may call the CenturyLink Annoyance Call Bureau at 1 800.582.0655 for assistance or consult your local police department. Where available, you may also automatically trace individual harassing or obscene calls by dialing "*57" (or 1157 from rotary phones) immediately after receiving one. After you have completed three successful traces to the same number, simply call our Annoyance Call Bureau to let them know. We will send a letter to the address from which the calls were made and, at your request, forward the trace information to your local police department.

Your Rights Regarding Pay-Per-Call Information-Delivery Services - CenturyLink wants to be sure you are informed of your legal rights related to pay-per-call information-delivery services. These are services you generally access through dialing prefixes like "900" or "700" and that charge by the call or by the minute. Pay-per-call services can include recorded telephone messages, interactive programs or other information services. CenturyLink does not provide interstate pay-per-call services. But we do bill customers in our local service region on behalf of many third-party companies, including interexchange long-distance carriers and billing aggregators. A number of these companies, in turn, bill on behalf of pay-per-call service providers. You have specific rights and responsibilities regarding pay-per-call charges that may appear on any of these various companies' bill pages within your CenturyLink bill. We are providing this notice in order to explain those rights as described in the federal Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act (TDDRA).

To Report a Billing Error - If you believe you have been billed in error for any pay-per-call services, call the toll-free number listed on the bill page where the pay-per-call charge appears no later than 60 days after you receive the bill containing the charges; or 60 days after the goods you ordered were delivered or should have been delivered, whichever is later. When you call, be prepared to provide the following information:

- Your name and telephone number
- The date the disputed charges first appeared on your bill
- The amount of the disputed charges
- A brief explanation of why you believe you were billed in error

If you contact CenturyLink - either directly or because CenturyLink is acting as the first point-of-contact for a pay-per-call billing entity - about a disputed charge, CenturyLink will credit your bill for the disputed amount and refer the matter and the charges back to the billing entity. That billing entity, or the pay-per-call service provider, may elect to pursue further action, so it is always good to follow-up with the entity billing the charges on behalf of the pay-per call provider to assure full resolution of your matter.

Response from the Billing Company - In the event you contact the company whose name appears on the bill page where the pay-per-call charge appears, in a timely manner, they must acknowledge your claim in writing within 40 days if they haven't resolved your claim within that time. This company must also acknowledge that you are not required to pay the disputed charge pending resolution of their investigation. You must still pay the nondisputed portion of your bill; failure to pay may result in your access to pay-per-call services being involuntarily blocked and/or collections activity against you. If the disputed amount has already been sent to collections, the collection activity will be suspended. This same company must investigate, within 90 days of your initial complaint, whether or not the disputed charges are valid. If there was a billing error, the billing company will let you know and will adjust the charges as appropriate. If the charges have been referred to collections, the collections activity will stop. If the billing company determines the charges were not billed in error, you will receive a written explanation detailing how that conclusion was reached, how much you owe, and the date by which you must pay it. Failure to pay could lead to collection activity. If you continue to dispute the charges, the billing company should not report you as delinquent without also reporting that you continue to dispute the charges. Compliance - Any long-distance carrier or billing aggregator acting as a billing agent for a pay-percall service provider that does not comply with the federal rules may not collect the first $50 of any disputed pay-per-call transaction - regardless of whether or not the disputed charges are discovered to be correct.

Additional Customer Rights - You have a right not to be billed for pay-per call services that do not comply with federal laws and regulations. Your local telephone service cannot be disconnected if you do not pay for pay-per-call services. You may request a block to prevent access to pay-per-call services from your phone line. CenturyLink will provide the block, where feasible, at no charge to you.

Telecommunications Relay Service

Dial 7-1-1 or Special Toll-Free Numbers Listed in Your Telephone Directory

Telecommunications Relay Service is a free telephone service that allows persons with hearing or speech disabilities to place and receive telephone calls using standard telephone equipment or telephone equipment designed for individuals with disabilities. To use Relay dial one of the toll free numbers listed in your telephone directory, or simply dial 7-1-1. A specially trained Communications Assistant (CA) will answer your call and relay the telephone conversation between you and the party you are calling. All call information and conversations are confidential. Relay service is available 24 hours per day, 365 days a year. Long distance calls placed for you can be billed to your existing long-distance service calling plan, collect, or with the use of a pre-paid calling card, carrier calling card, or third-party billing.

Types of TRS Calls

Computer (ASCII): users can access Relay Service by setting the communications software to the following protocols: speeds ranging from 300 to 2400 baud: 8 Bits, No Parity; 1 Stop Bit; Full Duplex. For speeds at or below 300 baud, follow the above using Half Duplex.

Hearing-Carry-Over (HCO): HCO allows hearing individuals with very limited or no speech capability to type his or her conversation for the Communications Assistant to read aloud to the hearing person. The HCO user hears the other party's response. HCO requires a specially designed telephone.

Internet Protocal (IP) Relay: Connect to the relay using your computer or other web device. The Communications Assistant handles the call the same as a traditional relay call - "voicing" or reading everything you type to the other party - and typing everything the other party says for you to read on your screen.

Spanish Relay: Spanish speaking persons with a hearing or speech disability are able to make relay calls. This is not a translation service – both parties must speak Spanish, and at least one party must have a hearing or speech disability.

Speech-to-Speech (STS): STS allows a person who has difficulty speaking or being understood on the phone to communicate using his or her own voice or voice synthesizer. The Communications Assistant revoices the words of the person with the speech disability so the person on the call can understand them. No special telephone is required.

Text Telephone (TTY): Allows anyone who is deaf, hard of hearing or speech disabled to use a TTY to communicate with anyone using a standard telephone.

Video Relay Service (VRS): Allows natural telephone communication between Sign Language and standard telephone users. This service requires high-speed internet service such as DSL, cable modem, or mobile broadband modem.

Voice-Carry-Over: VCO enables people who have difficulty hearing on the phone to voice their conversations directly to the hearing person. The CA then types the hearing person's response to the VCO user. (Requires a special telephone with text display.)

Voice/Standard Telephone: A hearing person may use a standard telephone to place a relay call and easily converse with a person who is deaf, hard of hearing or speech disabled.

Voice Over Internet Protocal (VOIP): VoIP customers can access the Telecommunications Relay Service (TRS) by dialing 7-1-1 or using the toll-free number listed in your telephone directory.

Captioned Telephone Relay

CapTel uses a telephone with a text display screen to allow a person who is hard of hearing to see word-for-word captions of what the other party on the call is saying, while also listening to what is being said using their residual hearing (much like TV captioning). The CapTel user speaks directly to the other person on the call, and the CA uses voice recognition technology to repeat what the other party says, which is then transmitted as text to the user's specialized CapTel phone.

TTY Users and Emergency Assistance ("9-1-1")

TTY callers should dial 9-1-1 directly. All 9-1-1 centers are equipped to handle TTY calls. Using Relay for 9-1-1 may result in a delay to getting your urgent message through. For more information about TRS, please go to the following URL:

http://www.centurylink.com/Pages/AboutUs/Community/Disabled

Monitoring and Recording of Calls with CenturyLink Business Offices and Other CenturyLink Representatives

Please remember, when you call CenturyLink for sales, service or repair issues, CenturyLink may monitor or record those calls for quality assurance or training purposes. Additionally, when a CenturyLink customer service representative or repair technician calls you, those calls too may be monitored or recorded for the same purpose. Please inform all members of your household or business who may be in contact with CenturyLink of this information.

High Cost Fund (Applicable to Colorado Customers Only) - NOTICE

You may have noticed a charge on your telephone bill for the Colorado Universal Service Fund. This charge is required by the Colorado Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to pay for the Colorado Universal Service fund established by state law.

What is the Colorado Universal Service Fund?

There are two primary purposes of the fund: (1) to make basic voice telephone service affordable in certain high cost areas of Colorado; and (2) to provide funds for grants to build broadband networks in unserved areas of Colorado. The PUC provides Universal Service Fund payments for basic voice telephone service to telephone companies that serve areas with high costs and meet other PUC requirements for the funding. Grants for building broadband networks are determined and overseen by the Colorado Broadband Deployment Board. Payments to telecom providers for basic voice telephone service in high cost areas are overseen by the PUC.

What services is this charge applied to and who pays it?

This charge is assessed as a percentage of your in-state telecommunications services for local, wireless, paging, in-state long distance, and optional services. The charge is not applied to interstate services. All telecommunications customers in Colorado pay this monthly charge.

What is the monthly charge?

The monthly charge is currently set at 2.6 percent, which was effective April 1, 2013. The PUC may adjust the charge over time depending on how much money is needed for the fund and to make sure that customers do not pay more than is necessary.

Who do I call if I have questions about this charge?

For more information, contact your telecommunications provider.

Slamming - Have you ever been slammed? Would you know if you have? Slamming is when one telephone company changes a customer's telephone service - usually long distance service - to another telephone company without that customer's permission. CenturyLink is here to offer some helpful tips on how to avoid being a victim of slamming. Initially, you should call your local telephone company and request a "PC FREEZE" (Preferred Carrier), which will prohibit future changes to your carrier selection until further notice from you. If you receive a call from a telemarketer asking you to change your long distance service and you are happy with your current service, just say that you are not interested and hang up. Don't verify your name, your spouse's name, or your address and never give out your Social Security number. Always carefully read the fine print on everything, including any checks, offers for calling cards, sweepstakes or drawings. If you are slammed, notify your local company to reconnect you to your preferred long distance company at no charge. If the rates charged are higher than your normal rates, you may be entitled to a refund.

Telephone and Broadband Assistance - CenturyLink participates in a government benefit program (Lifeline) to make residential telephone or qualifying broadband service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. Eligible customers may qualify for Lifeline discounts of $5.25/month for voice or bundled voice service or $9.25/month for qualifying broadband or broadband bundles. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal Lifeline credits. To qualify for these discounts applicants must meet certain eligibility standards as defined by the FCC and state commissions. If you live in a CenturyLink service area and want to see if you qualify to receive a discount off your telephone or broadband bill, please call 1-800-201-4099 or visit centurylink.com/lifeline. The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone or broadband service per household and can be on either wireline or wireless service. Broadband speeds must be 25 Mbps download and 3 Mbps upload or faster to qualify. A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program. If you live in a CenturyLink service area you may be eligible for assistance in paying for your telephone or broadband bill if you receive benefits from certain low-income assistance programs or meet certain income limits, please call 1-800-201-4099 or visit centurylink.com/lifeline with questions or to request an application for the Lifeline program.

Annual Customer Do-Not-Call Notification - The federal government established a national Do-Not-Call Registry where consumers can register their residential telephone number(s) (including wireless) for free and it will remain on the national Do-Not-Call Registry until you remove or discontinue it. Consumers can register their numbers from the phone number they wish to register by telephone at 1 888-382-1222 or through the Internet at www.donotcall.gov. TTY users should call 1-866-290-4236.

8-1-1 Call Before You Dig - 8-1-1 Call Before You Dig - Digging into underground telephone, electric, gas or water lines can disrupt service to your area or could cause serious injury and you could be charged substantial fines. For peace of mind, please call 8-1-1 at least two business days before digging up your property. This is a free service.

Find your truck heaven

SPERY SUMMER, when my children swere growing up, we would make the swere growing up, we would make the living at the time, Arizona. Massachusetts or New York, to be Smet Joyous few days with family. The family days were indeed wonderful, in New York, the trip entailed a drive to the Newark airport, two plane rides with accompanying daster through airports with one child on my back, one in a stroller and one-time through airports with one child on my back, one in a stroller and one-time through airports with one child on my back, one in a stroller and one-time through airports with one child on my back, one in a stroller and one-time through airports with one child on any back, the children was a stroller and one-time through air through the children and the children was a stroller and one-time. The children was a stroller and one-time and the children was a stroller and one-time and the children was a stroller and one-time.

finally, the drive from Slour Fauls to De Smet. It was, to say the least, an adventure. One year, the laborious packing process complete, we headed for the airport. The day was hot, dry and windy, and all were tired before we started. It was with declining patience that we arrived at the airport only to find major construction underway. Trucks and various machines were crawling across the landscape, the dust and smoke made the air thick and, of course, there were detours and delays. I would like to say that I maintained a contented and peaceful attitude throughout, but the reality was that I was just irred, frustrated and stressed.

Then, I looked in the back seat to see all three of my young children staring with amazement out the windows of the car, enraptured by the construction vehicles, crawling across the landscape.

"Papa," one of them said, "this must be truck heaven."

Papa, one of them said. Units the truck heaven? Instantly, my perspective changed. The circumstances, the heat, the dust, the delays and the long day ahead all remained. Only my angle of vision had changed, but that made all the difference. Last week saw the annual commemoration of All Souls' Day. It is a time when loyed ones who have passed are remembered, and we share with each other that remembrance.

By the time you read these words, we will also have had an election. About the only thing all can universally agree upon is that we are an ever more divided world. Families, towns and nations are divided and fear the trip ahead. We feel the increased stress of our journey through the days, and in true human fashion, we look for blame, for safety in our own visions of what will make all well.

fashion, we look for blame, for safety in our own visions of what will make all well.

All Souls' Day reminds us of a very different vision. A vision of the Kingdom of God. A vision that lets us see that "All souls belong to the Lord." (Ezekiel 18) It is the Apostle John's vision of "a new heaven and a new earth ..., without sorrow, pain and suffering. (Rew. 21) It is, of course, a vision of the next life, but as we are called here and now, this very moment, to live for the glory of God, and if all souls are God's. It is also a vision for this world and for God's people even this very day.

All Souls' Day reminds us that even death does not really separate us. All who have passed, and those to come, are living, vital souls in the Kingdom.

So, instead of conjuring and nurturing all that we think separates us, let us pray for the grace to remember that "Jesus in us" brings an ewe heaven and a new earth and all the souls belong to the Lord.

It alone can transform our often dusty, stressful journey into the wonder of "truck heaven."

The Groton American Legion held its Halloween Costume Party Friday night. A couple of costumes were impressive. On the left are Mark and Kelly Abeln. Kelly said that it took a couple of hours just to make the horns. "I'm quite the engineer when it comes to Halloween," she said. On the right are Spencer and Kellie Locke being former President Donald Trump and S.D. Governor Kristi Noem. Spencer even has the patch over his ear from being shot. He said, "It's all in the details!" [Wallow by Park Kell"]

GOP extends SD Senate edge to 32-3

One of the main questions entering the election was whether South Dakota Democrais could improve their strikingly low representation in Pierre, where Republicans outnambered the junior party 94-11 the past two years, including 63-7 in the House and 31-4 in the Senate.

The short answer is no.
Republicans actually gained a Senate wat to make it it 23, with Tamara Grove knocking off Democratic incumbent Shawn Bordeaux.

Reynen Takes Lead Role at Wilmot Church

After completing a 30-year career as a family medicine physician, primarily in Milbank, Peter Reynen is moving into a new career as the fulltime pastor at the Wilmot First Presbyterian Church. The step may seem like a leap of faith, but those who know Reynen can see the vocational shift as a return to his roots.

"My Mom, then Evelyn Mc-Farland, grew up in this congregation," Reynen explained. "My Dad, Donald, was ordained into ministry here, and the two were married here." The Presbyterian church building is a different structure than it was in those days, but it's still the family's home church to which Reynen is returning.

While Reynen was a junior high school student in Mitchell, where he grew up, he began to forge the path that led him to his new vocation. At that time, he read the book The Road Less Traveled by M. Scott Peck, a psychiatrist, and the experience impacted him profoundly. In the wake of the thought-provoking read, he decided that after graduating high school, he would pursue higher education in the seminary and then medical school. It ultimately proved to be the course he fulfilled.

"I went to seminary school first because the debt wasn't quite as high, and I thought if I were going to change my mind, I would change my mind in seminary," Reynen explained. "Then I went to medical school."

Reynen earned his bachelor's degree at the University of South Dakota, his Master of Divinity degree at the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Louisville, KY, and then his Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of South Dakota at Vermillion.

Among the outstanding suppositions that Reynen grasped from the book Peck authored was that the term

PASTOR PETER REYNEN was installed as the new full-time pastor at Wilmot's First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, November 3. He and his wife, Camille, have been serving the church on a part-time basis for three years and are excited to expand their service within the community.

"evil" should be a medical diagnosis, based on the things Peck had encountered.

"In medicine, you learn a lot about the human body and biology, the pharmacology and the medicines, but you don't really delve into the emotional, spiritual, mental side of who we are as human beings," Reynen explained. "But in seminary, you do that, and you think about questions that don't have a discrete, hard-cut answer. There are two different ways to approach the human condition. I thought the more ways I had to approach the human condition, the better prepared I would be to help peo-

The duality of Reyen's heart-felt vocations was evident throughout his adult life. He served in the pulpit and other roles in various churches in the Sioux Falls area while still in medical school. Even while working as a family practitioner, he would enjoy filling in on Sunday mornings for absent pastors. "I've done this on weekends on and off for 20 years," Reynen said.

During the span of 2006 to 2011, Reynen served as the pastor at churches in Sisseton and Veblin while working full-time in medicine.

Reynen's experiences in both fields of work in the past decades revealed that people tend to be much more willing to discuss their personal hardships in their lives in the medical clinic setting than in the church setting. It's a phenomenon he can't explain, but he hopes that in his new role as a pastor, people will have the same trust in him that he found as a physician. "Our job is to offer and teach grace, not judgment," he said.

Preceding Reynen's installation as the full-time pastor at Wilmot's First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, November 3, he'd had the weekend responsibilities there for three years while the pastoral role was vacant.

Having officially retired from medicine on Sunday, October 20, Reynen and his wife, Camille, are eager to step into full-time pastoral service in the Wilmot community. They are leaving their Milbank home and moving into the manse provided by the church so they can become embedded and active in the Wilmot community. As is often the case for pastor's wives, Camille has traditionally had an active role in the church to correspond with Peter's activities.

"Wherever Pete is serving, I've been there, helping in that service," Camille said. She's been the pianist at the Wilmot church, and she will continue to do that as well as becoming a more active volunteer in the community. "And since Pete is retired from medicine, I'm looking forward to a lot more 'Grandma gigs,'" she commented. The couple has three married daughters and five grandchildren, who they love to visit.

Reynen embraces his transition from simply "filling the pulpit" on Sundays to the comprehensive joys and burdens of the full-time pastor as a fulfillment of his vocation. "Living in the community and being active there – inviting the people to church, visiting them in the nursing home, volunteering at events – is how you let the community know that you're invested in them," he said.

Reynen hopes to have a presence in the Wilmot School to let his knowledge and experience augment some of the science classes. "We haven't worked out the details, but maybe I'll be coming in to talk about how what the students are learning applies to human biology so they can see a real-world context for some of what they are learning."

"Sometimes people think about the church just as a place you go to on Sunday, but if the church is just worship, it's very limiting," Reynen said. He explained that while the pastor is to be a representative of faith in the community, the role is also to be an example who leads the whole congregation into being representatives of faith in the community. "Ministry of the church isn't just the pastor's job, it is the whole congregation's job," he noted.

In his new role, Reynen hopes to encourage everyone to use their talents or gifts, stating, "Discovering those gifts and seeing people grow in their faith and seeing it make a difference in their life and in the life of the community is part of the joy of being in the church."

"The challenge is making faith a real construct in people's lives and not just some academic principle in a book. But making it apply to where we actually live and what we do – that's both the joy and the challenge of the pastoral role," Reynen said. "We'll see where the doors open and what the opportunities are."

perceived enemies.

The results cap a historically tunufluous and competitive election season that included two assastiantion attempts targeting Trump and a shift to a new Democratic nominee just a month before the party's convention. Trump will inherit a range of challenges when he assumes office on Jan. 20, including heightened political polarization and global crises.
